Staff Survey – Time-2 Data Collection

Ethics number: 13486

Project title: Investigating the effectiveness of restorative practices in schools

Before the Easter holiday, you kindly agreed to take part in a piece of research being carried out by a researcher from Southampton University. As part of this research, you completed a questionnaire that comprised 23 questions aimed at measuring your experiences and views on a number of key issues such as: your perceptions of the behaviour of pupils at the school, views about exclusions as a method of discipline, and levels of classroom disturbance (including the amount of teaching time lost due to poor behaviour).

The researcher would now like you to fill in a reduced 18-item questionnaire to see how things currently are for you in school.

Please be as honest as possible as only the researcher running the project will see your answers. The information you provide will be treated as private and confidential. The results of this study and reports produced by the researcher will not include your name or anything else that could identify you, so again no-one from the school will see your answers.

You don't have to take part in the study and you don't have to fill in the questionnaires if you don't want to. However, the researcher would appreciate it if you could help with this research by filling in the questionnaire and being as honest as possible when you're doing so.

By completing the questionnaire and handing it in, you are giving your consent to take part. However, you may stop taking part at any time and you can leave out specific questions if you don't feel comfortable answering them.

If you have questions about your rights as a participant in this research, or if taking part has caused you distress, you may contact Scott on sip1g13@soton.ac.uk He will be able to direct you to an appropriate source of support. Alternatively, if you feel that you have been placed at risk as a result of taking part, you may contact the Research Governance Office at the University of Southampton on: rgoinfo@soton.ac.uk or 023805928848
