LSCB Safeguarding Children: Child Protection Process Level 3

Introduction

This training session will provide delegates with more information about the processes involved with child protection procedures, including statutory assessment. Under the Children Act 1989, local authorities are required to provide services for children in need for the purposes of safeguarding and promoting their welfare. Local authorities undertake assessments of the needs of individual children to determine which services to provide and what action to take.

This course is multi-agency and designed for members of the workforce who work predominantly with children, young people and/ or their parents/carers and who potentially contribute to assessing, planning, intervening and reviewing the needs of a child and parenting capacity where there are safeguarding concerns. It is recommended that designated safeguarding leads within all organisations attend this course. It is the responsibility of the designated safeguarding leads (DSL) to coordinate the response to safeguarding concerns within their organisation, and to support others in doing so, therefore this course will ensure DSLs are well equipped to meet their statutory responsibilities.

NB: Participants must have completed LSCB Safeguarding Children: A Shared Responsibility (Level 2) course prior to undertaking this course.

Learning Outcomes

This course will enable participants to:

• Demonstrate professional knowledge and understanding of what constitutes significant harm and how to identify and signs of child abuse
• Define local child protection reporting procedures
• Explain the factors that might affect recognition of harm particularly when working with resistance or disguised compliance
• Give example of how to work together to facilitate effective information sharing in order to analyse and understand potential risk of harm
• Identify the importance of professional challenge within a safe system and how to work with professional differences

Signs of Safety - 2x Day Foundation

Image

Introduction

Achieving for Children is implementing Signs of Safety from 19 June 2017. The Signs of Safety model promotes strong relationship building and enables practitioners across different disciplines to work in partnership with children and families to maintain a focus on building safety within the family.

The heart of the Signs of Safety process is an assessment and case planning format that is meaningful for professionals as well as the parents, children and young people being assessed. The Signs of Safety format offers a simple yet rigorous assessment format that the practitioner can use to elicit, in common language, the professional s and family members views regarding concerns or dangers, existing strengths, safety and envisioned safety and wellbeing.

This is the standard training module for organisations and practitioners wanting to use the Signs of Safety approach. It is delivered over two days and practitioners are expected to attend both days. It is designed for all practitioners, supervisors and managers working with children where there are concerns about their safety and well-being.

Learning Outcomes

By the end of the session delegates would have covered:

• Describe the principles and elements of the Signs of Safety practice framework
• Use the Signs of Safety approach as an underpinning model for their practice with children and families
• Apply the 3 columns framework, the mapping process, scaling and danger statements to their work with children and families
• Recognise how Signs of Safety underpins the Early Help Plans

Audience	Youth, Sports and Culture, Social, Family and Voluntary Support, Justice and Crime Prevention, Health, Education, Early Years and Childcare, Business Support

LSCB Neglect Toolkit

Introduction

It is agreed amongst practitioners and academics that the cumulative nature of neglect can have a disastrous impact on all aspects of children's health and development. Neglect causes great stress to children leading to poor health, educational and social outcomes and is potentially fatal. Kingston & Richmond LSCB believes that all children and young people in our boroughs should have professionals who are able to swiftly identify and respond effectively to child neglect.

The Neglect Toolkit has been developed to is to help practitioners with parents and carers look at and think about the quality of care given to children, and whether the care meets the children's needs. It will help them to think about concerns as well as identify strengths and where care giving is good.

Learning Outcomes

By the end of the session delegates will be able to:

• Explore and become familiar with the Neglect Toolkit
• Analyse and understand how to use the Neglect Toolkit with families
• Clarify how to use the Neglect Toolkit to evidence neglect and as part of supervision when discussing concerns

LSCB: Understanding & Managing Childhood Neglect

Introduction

Neglect has been referred to as the most serious type of child maltreatment and the least understood. It is often under reported and underestimated in terms of the consequences for children. Neglect is a complex issue that presents many challenges for practitioners, not least a shared understanding and effective co-ordination of interventions across different services. Children who have been abused or neglected may experience physical or emotional harm. The effects can be short term but sometimes they last into adulthood. If someone has been abused as a child, it is more likely that they will suffer abuse again, this is known as revictimisation. This course is designed for all professionals with a responsibility for safeguarding children, including social workers and managers, designated education professionals, health staff and other professionals involved in child protection.

Learning Outcomes

Participants attending this course will have:

- Understanding of neglect from a multi-agency perspective
- Insight into neglect and Serious Case Reviews
- Knowledge of how to recognise neglect and its impact on children
- Insight into assessing neglect and parenting capacity
- Explore interventions and measure outcomes

Technology-facilitated Abuse

Introduction

'Technology-facilitated abuse encompasses a wide range of behaviours by perpetrators using communications technology to control, abuse, harass, punish and humiliate... This can include distributing intimate images without consent via digital platforms, restricting access to finances or methods of communication, accessing or modifying private information or correspondence, and alienating the victim from support networks through the use of technology.' (COAG (Australian) National Summit, 2016)

This course will aim to create awareness and understanding of the different methods of technology-facilitated abuse (TFA) and provide delegates with strategies to prevent and respond appropriately.

This session is aimed at multi agency practitioners working with children and young people, who wish to develop their awareness of TFA

Learning Outcomes

By the end of the session, delegates will be better able to:

- Identify many different types of technology-facilitated abuse
- Develop an understanding of the impact on the target, the perpetrator and on society
- Recognise signs of abuse and respond to children and young people more effectively.
- Develop and enhance policy and practice in their own professional areas

Alcohol and Cannabis Awareness (Windsor and Maidenhead)

Introduction

This bitesize course will provide practitioners who are working with children and young people with a basic and essential knowledge in understanding of the risks and impact of cannabis and alcohol. The session will introduce practitioners to an overview of what these drugs are and how they impact upon the young person's mental and physical health, and how it impacts upon school and home life.

The course will be engaging and offer practitioners valuable advice and guidance when working with a young person using these substances.

Learning Outcomes

By the end of the event participants will be able to:

•Describe the reasons why young people may use cannabis and alcohol
•Understand how cannabis is used, the types and the effects, risks and impacts it has on the developing mind and body
•Explore the risks and impacts of alcohol on the developing mind and body
•Demonstrate an increased knowledge and awareness of the issues relating to cannabis use
•Explain how to work in a creative and inclusive way with this client group

Signs of Safety Briefing

Introduction

Achieving for Children is implementing Signs of Safety from 19th June 2017. The Signs of Safety model promotes strong relationship building and enables practitioners across different disciplines to work in partnership with children and families to maintain a focus on building safety within the family.

These briefings are an introduction to Signs of Safety and will give staff and partners an opportunity to hear about Achieving for Children's intended implementation plan, as we set off on our journey to roll out Signs of Safety over the next couple of years. The briefing sessions will be led by internal Achieving for Children staff.

Learning Outcomes

By the end of the briefing delegates will:

- Have a clear overview of what Signs of Safety is
- Understand Achieving for Children's implementation plan to rolling out Signs of Safety
- Understand how Signs of Safety can be used as a standard model for communication
- Be informed of the training opportunity for your organisation in Signs of Safety

Audience	Youth, Sports and Culture, Social, Family and Voluntary Support, Justice and Crime Prevention, Health, Education, Early Years and Childcare, Business Support

LSCB Working with Difficult, Evasive & Challenging Families

Introduction

Both national and local serious case reviews and lessons learnt reviews have highlighted situations where professionals have delayed or avoided safeguarding interventions because of challenging, difficult or evasive behaviour by parents or carers.

The Serious Case Review into the death of Daniel Pelka (2013) challenged workers to 'think the unthinkable' and to 'believe and act upon what they saw in front of them, rather than accept parental versions of what was happening at home without robust challenge'. However difficult and challenging behaviour by parents & carers, by its very nature, makes it difficult for professionals who are involved with a family to maintain an objective view of progress in safeguarding the welfare of a child. Difficult behaviour can mislead professionals and can prevent or delay understanding of the severity of harm being experienced by children in the family.

Learning Outcomes

By the end of this session delegates will be able to:

• Identify what constitutes difficult, evasive & challenging behaviour
• Describe learning from national and local serious case reviews and lessons learnt reviews and research about engaging with and working with families where there is reluctance & resistance
• Have had an opportunity to participate in an experiential sessions with actors for reflection and skills development
• Analysed the implication of difficult, evasive and challenging behaviour parents & carers for safeguarding practice and risk assessments

Audience	Youth, Social, Family and Voluntary Support, Justice and Crime Prevention, Health, Education, Early Years and Childcare
Age Ranges	0 - 5 yrs / 5 - 7 yrs / 7 - 11 yrs / 11 - 19 yrs / 19+ yrs

LSCB Child Sexual Abuse

Introduction

Research in general populations consistently tells us that sexual abuse is a relatively common type of harm, affecting around 10 - 11 of people in childhood. Its impact on child and adult well-being can be pervasive and enduring. Despite its prevalence, sexual abuse is under-reported, under-represented in child protection populations, and there are significant barriers to children disclosing it to professionals.

This one-day multi-agency programme will develop participants' knowledge of the signs and impact of sexual abuse, and how to respond effectively to children at some key stages of the investigative process.

Learning Outcomes

By the end of the course you will have:

• Been introduced to signs that could indicate sexual abuse of a child
• Identified factors that can contribute to the under-recognition and under-reporting of sexual assaults on children
• Considered a range of types of sexually harmful behaviours and their potential impacts (current and future) on children
• Developed your understanding of law relating to sexual offences against children, and clarified how staff can respond helpfully to a disclosure of sexual abuse, including appropriate use of questions, and explaining the joint investigation process.

Restorative Practice

Introduction

Restorative Practice is a highly effective, everyday approach used to prevent conflict, build relationships and repair harm by enabling people to communicate effectively and positively. It can be used in any arena, from working with families, in criminal justice with victims, to schools, the workplace and care homes.

This Restorative Practice Course is accredited by the Restorative Justice Council.

Learning Outcomes

At the end of this course you will be able to:

• Demonstrate the ability to use restorative enquiry questions to grow engagement in the RJ process
• Understand each learning model and can give a synopsis of that learning and its relevance to Restorative Practice. These models cover the neuroscience of shame and empathy, the 4 choices of intervention, the needs of those harmed and causing harm.
• Evidence careful consideration of risk assessment in relation to restorative practice
• Evidence an assessment of best practice in relation to restorative practice
• Understand how to facilitate a RJ meeting between two parties
• Relate the values of restorative practice to your work role and beyond

The Children's Services Information Workshops (Windsor and Maidenhead)

Introduction

Achieving for Children and their partners are launching their inclusion charter, early help strategy and updating on the Local Mental Health Transformation Plan. Children's services within Achieving for Children are running 4 multi agency workshops in April 2019.

These workshops are an opportunity to hear about our exciting forthcoming transformation plans and how they will benefit the families in the Royal Borough of Windsor and Maidenhead.

Staff from a variety of agencies and partners are invited to attend the workshops and will have the opportunity to share knowledge and information with their colleagues.

Learning Outcomes

By the end of workshop delegates will able to:

• Demonstrate an increased knowledge and understanding of the function of the SPA/Early Help Strategy and pathways.
• Demonstrate an increased knowledge and understanding regarding the Signs of Safety model.
• Ensure all children and young people are fully included, irrespective of differences and/or additional needs.
• Explain the positive impact that the child and young people local Transformation Plan will have on families.

Online safety and risky behaviour for foster carers

Introduction

The internet has a huge influence on children and young people, both directly and indirectly affecting almost every aspect of their life. And this influence is mostly positive, providing an essential tool for learning, building relationships and helping them find their place in the world.

With social media, apps and the web now at our fingertips, it's getting harder to oversee and enforce what children can and can't do online. No longer are the dangers limited to the family PC – making it increasingly difficult to supervise and monitor internet usage.

As a foster carer, dealing with a child's vulnerabilities in the online world is now as vital as it is in the real one.
(National Fostering Agency -2018)

This session is defined specifically for foster carers to understand how to keep children in their care safe online.

Learning Outcomes

By the end of the session foster carers will be able to:

- Explain expected and normal behaviour of children and young people while online.
- Recognise emerging trends, locally and nationally, in online risky behaviour.
- Implement strategies for minimising risk
- Spot and respond to risky behaviour, including self-harm and sexting

Supervision Skills: Making the Most of Supervision (Windsor and Maidenhead)

Introduction

'It is as though the confluence of the search for certainty in detecting and eradicating abuse and neglect, combined with the belief (and management oversight) that following rules will further reduce the risk of missing a case, has replaced the space of reflection on professional judgement which actually protect children and young people' (Munro Review of Child, 2010).

Supervision is an essential element of Social Care; effective supervision is linked to improved outcomes for service users. This course is designed for frontline staff working with children, young people and families. It will assist practitioners in identifying the vital contributions that they can make in supervision to safeguard vulnerable populations.

Learning Outcomes

By the end of this course delegates will be able to:

- Understand the definition, purpose and function of supervision
- Explain the relationship between supervision, practice and outcomes for service users
- Describe the importance of reflection

Audience	Youth, Sports and Culture, Social, Family and Voluntary Support, Justice and Crime Prevention, Health, Education, Early Years and Childcare, Business Support

Fabrication or Induction of Illness in Children: Effective Recognition & Response

Introduction

Whilst many studies have identified that child maltreatment due to abuse or neglect is pervasive, less is known about fabricated or induced illness by parents and carers (FII) which is considered to be a rarer form of child abuse.

The term FII was introduced in the UK by the Royal College of Paediatrics and Child Health (RCPCH) in 2001 and subsequently adopted by the Department of Health. In 2008 statutory safeguarding guidance was provided for professionals to address FII. Commonly the term FII is used when describing various types of abuse which involve a child being presented for medical attention with symptoms or signs which have been fabricated or induced by the child's carer.

This NEW for 2019 one day course is designed to raise the awareness of fabricated and induced illness for frontline professionals.

Learning Outcomes

By the end of this one day course delegates will: be able to

• Recognise and be able to describe their responsibilities for children at risk of fabricated and induced illness,
• Understand the impact FII has on the subject child and their family,
• Be able to confidently refer to supplementary statutory guidance on FII (2008).

LSCB Safeguarding Children: A Shared Responsibility Level 2

Introduction

No matter where you work you are likely to encounter children during the course of your normal working activities. You are in a unique position to be able to observe signs of abuse or neglect, or changes in behaviour which may indicate a child may be being abused or neglected.

All those working with children and young people should make sure that they are alert to the signs of abuse and neglect, that they question the behaviours, not taking everything they are told at face value. This course is for staff and volunteers in regular contact or who have a period of intense but irregular contact with children and young people and/or parents/carers including all health clinical staff, who may be in a position to identify concerns about maltreatment.

At the end of the course delegates will have a greater understanding of safeguarding and the processes involved and be more aware how these fit in relation to their role in their organisation.

Learning Outcomes

This course will enable participants to:

• Identify laws and guidance relating to safeguarding children
• Understand what children and young people want and need to feel safe
• Identify some of the main forms, signs and effects of abuse with reference to child developmental stages
• Be able to demonstrate their skills in effective collaboration between interagency to achieve a suitable outcome for the child and family members
• Clear understanding of own and colleagues roles, responsibilities and professional boundaries

LSCB Safeguarding Children: Child Protection Process Level 3 - Refresher

Introduction

This course is for staff who have previously completed Level 2 and Level 3 safeguarding courses and are required to refresh their knowledge and skills. This training session will refresh understanding delegates about the processes involved with child protection procedures, including statutory assessment.

It is expected that all those who work predominantly with children, young people and/or carers who could potentially contribute to assessing, planning, intervening and reviewing the needs of a child and parenting capacity where there are safeguarding concerns. As a consequence practitioners need to ensure that their knowledge and skills are regularly kept up to date. It is recommended that designated safeguarding leads within schools refresh their Level 3 knowledge every two years and other organisations it is anticipated colleagues update their level 3 every three years.

NB: Participants must have completed LSCB Safeguarding Children: A Shared Responsibility (Level 2) and Child Protection Processes (Level 3) courses prior undertaking this session.

Learning Outcomes

By the end of the refresher course delegates will be able to:

- Demonstrate their own knowledge and understanding of safeguarding children
- Give examples of current developments in safeguarding practice and relate this to their own role
- Describe their refreshed knowledge of relevant Child Protection policies and procedures

Signs of Safety - 2x Day Foundation

Image

Introduction

Achieving for Children is implementing Signs of Safety from 19 June 2017. The Signs of Safety model promotes strong relationship building and enables practitioners across different disciplines to work in partnership with children and families to maintain a focus on building safety within the family.

The heart of the Signs of Safety process is an assessment and case planning format that is meaningful for professionals as well as the parents, children and young people being assessed. The Signs of Safety format offers a simple yet rigorous assessment format that the practitioner can use to elicit, in common language, the professional s and family members views regarding concerns or dangers, existing strengths, safety and envisioned safety and wellbeing.

This is the standard training module for organisations and practitioners wanting to use the Signs of Safety approach. It is delivered over two days and practitioners are expected to attend both days. It is designed for all practitioners, supervisors and managers working with children where there are concerns about their safety and well-being.

Learning Outcomes

By the end of the session delegates would have covered:

• Describe the principles and elements of the Signs of Safety practice framework
• Use the Signs of Safety approach as an underpinning model for their practice with children and families
• Apply the 3 columns framework, the mapping process, scaling and danger statements to their work with children and families
• Recognise how Signs of Safety underpins the Early Help Plans

The Children's Services Information Workshops (Windsor and Maidenhead)

Introduction

Achieving for Children and their partners are launching their inclusion charter, early help strategy and updating on the Local Mental Health Transformation Plan. Children's services within Achieving for Children are running 4 multi agency workshops in April 2019.

These workshops are an opportunity to hear about our exciting forthcoming transformation plans and how they will benefit the families in the Royal Borough of Windsor and Maidenhead.

Staff from a variety of agencies and partners are invited to attend the workshops and will have the opportunity to share knowledge and information with their colleagues.

Learning Outcomes

By the end of workshop delegates will able to:

• Demonstrate an increased knowledge and understanding of the function of the SPA/Early Help Strategy and pathways.
• Demonstrate an increased knowledge and understanding regarding the Signs of Safety model.
• Ensure all children and young people are fully included, irrespective of differences and/or additional needs.
• Explain the positive impact that the child and young people local Transformation Plan will have on families.

Audience	Youth, Social, Family and Voluntary Support, Justice and Crime Prevention, Health, Education, Early Years and Childcare

LSCB Safeguarding Children: Child Protection Process Level 3

Introduction

This training session will provide delegates with more information about the processes involved with child protection procedures, including statutory assessment. Under the Children Act 1989, local authorities are required to provide services for children in need for the purposes of safeguarding and promoting their welfare. Local authorities undertake assessments of the needs of individual children to determine which services to provide and what action to take.

This course is multi-agency and designed for members of the workforce who work predominantly with children, young people and/ or their parents/carers and who potentially contribute to assessing, planning, intervening and reviewing the needs of a child and parenting capacity where there are safeguarding concerns. It is recommended that designated safeguarding leads within all organisations attend this course. It is the responsibility of the designated safeguarding leads (DSL) to coordinate the response to safeguarding concerns within their organisation, and to support others in doing so, therefore this course will ensure DSLs are well equipped to meet their statutory responsibilities.

NB: Participants must have completed LSCB Safeguarding Children: A Shared Responsibility (Level 2) course prior to undertaking this course.

Learning Outcomes

This course will enable participants to:

• Demonstrate professional knowledge and understanding of what constitutes significant harm and how to identify and signs of child abuse
• Define local child protection reporting procedures
• Explain the factors that might affect recognition of harm particularly when working with resistance or disguised compliance
• Give example of how to work together to facilitate effective information sharing in order to analyse and understand potential risk of harm
• Identify the importance of professional challenge within a safe system and how to work with professional differences

Safer Caring - Protecting Children & Minimising The Risk of False Allegations

Introduction

"Child protection is part of safeguarding and promoting welfare. It refers to the activity undertaken to protect children suffering from, or at risk of, significant harm" (Working Together to Safeguard Children, 2018).

Further information on "Working Together to Safeguard Children" is available at: https://www.gov.uk/government/publications/working-together-to-safeguard-children--2

This one-day course is aimed at staff involved in the fostering task; foster carers and supervising social workers. The course addresses the shift in safer caring practice over the past few years and has been influenced by the Fostering Network's 2012 publication "Safer Caring: a new approach". The course looks at developing knowledge and strategies informed by this new approach, thus ensuring safer caring practice is 'risk sensitive rather than risk averse'. The course is also underpinned by the National Minimum Standards for Fostering Services 2011 and The Children Act 1989 Guidance and Regulations Volume 4: Fostering Services.

Learning Outcomes

This course will enable participants to:

• Recognise the reasons why a foster child or young person may make a false allegation.
• Recognise and explain why all allegations always need to be taken seriously.
• Evaluate the 2011 National Minimum Standards for Fostering Services regarding agency procedures on allegations.
• Demonstrate strategies that can be used in order to minimise the risk of an allegation being made.
• Create a detailed and thorough Family Safer Caring Plan.
• Create a risk assessment plan, with their supervising social worker on the specific foster child or young person placed with them.

Audience	Youth, Sports and Culture, Social, Family and Voluntary Support, Justice and Crime Prevention, Health, Education, Early Years and Childcare

Singing from the Same Sheet - Applying Local Safeguarding Thresholds when Assessing Levels of Risk & Safety

Introduction

'The Early Help Assessment in its entirety, can be used to enable practitioners to identify strategies and interventions to support families whose needs fall below the social care threshold' (Multi-agency Threshold Document 2016, Kingston and Richmond LSCB).

The Thresholds of Need guidance has been developed to support early help. It assists practitioners to identify needs and analyse risk when working with children and families in order to provide additional support in a timely manner. By exploring the thresholds document and how it can assist need and risk identification in children & families.

The training looks at helping participants utilise the guidance to its full capabilities and to better support the families and young people they work with.

Learning Outcomes

The course will enable practitioners to:

• Effectively use the Safeguarding Thresholds guidance to help identify appropriate interventions for children & families
• Analyse the thresholds and understand knowledge of early intervention in order to prevent escalation of cases
• Embed early help assessment into their work with children & families
• Appropriately request the involvement of other services related to level of need
• Identify the skills for gathering, recording and sharing information within the assessment process to support children & families
• Recite and understand how the SPA process links to the Safeguarding Thresholds guidance
• Compare and understand evidence based research on how adverse childhood experiences link to poor outcomes

Audience	Youth, Social, Family and Voluntary Support, Justice and Crime Prevention, Health

LSCB Neglect Toolkit

Introduction

It is agreed amongst practitioners and academics that the cumulative nature of neglect can have a disastrous impact on all aspects of children's health and development. Neglect causes great stress to children leading to poor health, educational and social outcomes and is potentially fatal. Kingston & Richmond LSCB believes that all children and young people in our boroughs should have professionals who are able to swiftly identify and respond effectively to child neglect.

The Neglect Toolkit has been developed to is to help practitioners with parents and carers look at and think about the quality of care given to children, and whether the care meets the children's needs. It will help them to think about concerns as well as identify strengths and where care giving is good.

Learning Outcomes

By the end of the session delegates will be able to:

• Explore and become familiar with the Neglect Toolkit
• Analyse and understand how to use the Neglect Toolkit with families
• Clarify how to use the Neglect Toolkit to evidence neglect and as part of supervision when discussing concerns

Working with Difficult to Engage Parents

Introduction

'Irrespective of whether they co-operate, it is worth remembering that most parents involved in the child welfare system are involuntary participants in a process they may resent'
Effective practice to protect children living in 'highly resistant' families' (Centre for Excellence and Outcomes in Children and Young People's Services 2010).

Highly resistant families are a subpopulation that have not received much specific attention in research as they should. Most research reliance is from serious case reviews – these comprise the best recent UK evidence- the problem is that Serious Case Review's (SCR) are not always focused on 'effective practice', but actually what doesn't seem to work.

A partnership review in a recent SCR 2015 found that 'professionals are not always adequately equipped to deal with parents exhibiting distracting and contradictory behaviours thus diminishing child-centred focus that is their core responsibility'

The course looks at addressing and providing participants with strategies to deal with these and other related situations.

Learning Outcomes

By the end of the session participants:

• Will be able to effectively facilitate discussion and address concerns when working with families resistant to involvement or change.
• To consider lessons from practice and research to work effectively with hostile parents.
• Evaluate and define the various terms around hostility and resistance and understand the underpinning reasons.
• Demonstrate and enhanced their range of knowledge, skills and practical techniques.
• Analyse the importance of emotional intelligence and the part it plays in diffusing conflict.
• Be able to challenge and probe family members effectively and lessen the potential provocation of this approach.
• Identify ways to be able to give effective and constructive feedback to family members.
• Identify the 'Traps' they may fall into when working with families with challenging behaviours.
• Be aware and have ways of overcoming parent hostility within a multi- agency setting.
• List potential issues around staff support and staff safety in response to hostile families.

LSCB Safeguarding Children: Child Protection Process Level 3 - Refresher

Introduction

This course is for staff who have previously completed Level 2 and Level 3 safeguarding courses and are required to refresh their knowledge and skills. This training session will refresh understanding delegates about the processes involved with child protection procedures, including statutory assessment.

It is expected that all those who work predominantly with children, young people and/or carers who could potentially contribute to assessing, planning, intervening and reviewing the needs of a child and parenting capacity where there are safeguarding concerns. As a consequence practitioners need to ensure that their knowledge and skills are regularly kept up to date. It is recommended that designated safeguarding leads within schools refresh their Level 3 knowledge every two years and other organisations it is anticipated colleagues update their level 3 every three years.

NB: Participants must have completed LSCB Safeguarding Children: A Shared Responsibility (Level 2) and Child Protection Processes (Level 3) courses prior undertaking this session.

Learning Outcomes

By the end of the refresher course delegates will be able to:

- Demonstrate their own knowledge and understanding of safeguarding children
- Give examples of current developments in safeguarding practice and relate this to their own role
- Describe their refreshed knowledge of relevant Child Protection policies and procedures

Introduction to Domestic Abuse (Windsor and Maidenhead)

Introduction

'Domestic abuse is any type of controlling, bullying, threatening or violent behaviour between people in a relationship. But it isn't just physical violence – domestic abuse includes emotional, physical, sexual, financial or psychological abuse. Abusive behaviour can occur in any relationship. It can continue even after the relationship has ended. Both men and women can be abused or abusers.' (NSPCC, 2018)

The Office for National Statistics Crime Survey for England and Wales has estimated that 1.9 million adults aged 16 to 59 years experienced domestic abuse during April 2016 to March 2017.

N.B: This course is an awareness level only.

Learning Outcomes

By the end of the course participants will be able to;

- Demonstrate a better understanding of domestic abuse
- Describe different types of abuse
- Gain an understanding of the statistics and myths surrounding domestic abuse
- Identify additional issues faced by marginalised groups suffering domestic abuse
- Demonstrate an understanding of reasons why it is difficult to leave an abusive relationship
- Describe indicators of abuse
- Demonstrate knowledge of the impact of domestic abuse
- Gain an understanding of the appropriate action to be taken in cases of domestic abuse
- Demonstrate an understanding of accountability and responsibility in relation to domestic abuse
- Gain knowledge of local and national relevant support services
- Impact on delegates own work situation

LSCB Working with Difficult, Evasive & Challenging Families

Introduction

Both national and local serious case reviews and lessons learnt reviews have highlighted situations where professionals have delayed or avoided safeguarding interventions because of challenging, difficult or evasive behaviour by parents or carers.

The Serious Case Review into the death of Daniel Pelka (2013) challenged workers to 'think the unthinkable' and to 'believe and act upon what they saw in front of them, rather than accept parental versions of what was happening at home without robust challenge'. However difficult and challenging behaviour by parents & carers, by its very nature, makes it difficult for professionals who are involved with a family to maintain an objective view of progress in safeguarding the welfare of a child. Difficult behaviour can mislead professionals and can prevent or delay understanding of the severity of harm being experienced by children in the family.

Learning Outcomes

By the end of this session delegates will be able to:

• Identify what constitutes difficult, evasive & challenging behaviour
• Describe learning from national and local serious case reviews and lessons learnt reviews and research about engaging with and working with families where there is reluctance & resistance
• Have had an opportunity to participate in an experiential sessions with actors for reflection and skills development
• Analysed the implication of difficult, evasive and challenging behaviour parents & carers for safeguarding practice and risk assessments

Audience	Youth, Social, Family and Voluntary Support, Justice and Crime Prevention, Health, Education, Early Years and Childcare

LSCB: Understanding & Managing Childhood Neglect

Introduction

Neglect has been referred to as the most serious type of child maltreatment and the least understood. It is often under reported and underestimated in terms of the consequences for children. Neglect is a complex issue that presents many challenges for practitioners, not least a shared understanding and effective co-ordination of interventions across different services. Children who have been abused or neglected may experience physical or emotional harm. The effects can be short term but sometimes they last into adulthood. If someone has been abused as a child, it is more likely that they will suffer abuse again, this is known as revictimisation. This course is designed for all professionals with a responsibility for safeguarding children, including social workers and managers, designated education professionals, health staff and other professionals involved in child protection.

Learning Outcomes

Participants attending this course will have:

- Understanding of neglect from a multi-agency perspective
- Insight into neglect and Serious Case Reviews
- Knowledge of how to recognise neglect and its impact on children
- Insight into assessing neglect and parenting capacity
- Explore interventions and measure outcomes

Permanency: developing an understanding

Introduction

Permanency means giving a young person a sense of safety, stability and a clear sense of belonging. For children, it means that they understand who they will be living with and who will be caring for them for the rest of their childhood.

This course considers what is meant by permanency and the impact on outcomes for children and young people. The various options of achieving permanency are explored and the differences between these options explained. However, it is important to note that it remains a difficult area of practice and raises many concerns and anxieties for social workers and foster carers alike. This course will consider some of the issues involved in the process and will provide case studies, checklists, advice and guidance for both practitioners and foster families.

This course forms part of the Refocus on Practice training programme. The programme will support practitioners within Social Care services to develop safe and effective practice when working with vulnerable children, young people and families. To find out more about this offer please contact the Workforce Development Service (training@achievingforchildren.org.uk)

Learning Outcomes

By the end of the session delegates will be able to:

• Explain clearly and coherently what is meant by the term 'permanency' - considering the importance of early intervention and planning for LAC
• Indicate different legal options of achieving permanency for looked after children, understanding all routes
• Consider and then articulate the differences between adopting a child, becoming a Special Guardians for a child or remaining permanent foster carers
• Reflect on research and the implication for early intervention and permanency planning

Preparing to Work in Home based childcare Module 3 - Understand how to support the safeguarding, protection and welfare of children

Introduction

Everyone who works with children has a responsibility for keeping them safe. No single practitioner can have a full picture of a child's needs and circumstances and, if children and families are to receive the right help at the right time, everyone who comes into contact with them has a role to play in identifying concerns, sharing information and taking prompt action (Working Together to Safeguard Children,2018)

This safeguarding session is a single agency session and is only available to those working in early years. Bookings received from organisations that are not a early years setting will be cancelled. If your organisation would like an in-service session delivered in your own setting on level 1 or 2 safeguarding please contact training@achievingforchildren.org.uk

Supervision Skills: Making the Most of Supervision

Introduction

'It is as though the confluence of the search for certainty in detecting and eradicating abuse and neglect, combined with the belief (and management oversight) that following rules will further reduce the risk of missing a case, has replaced the space of reflection on professional judgement which actually protect children and young people' (Munro Review of Child, 2010).

Supervision is an essential element of Social Care; effective supervision is linked to improved outcomes for service users. This course is designed for frontline staff working with children, young people and families. It will assist practitioners in identifying the vital contributions that they can make in supervision to safeguard vulnerable populations.

Learning Outcomes

By the end of this course delegates will be able to:

- Understand the definition, purpose and function of supervision
- Explain the relationship between supervision, practice and outcomes for service users
- Describe the importance of reflection

Audience	Youth, Sports and Culture, Social, Family and Voluntary Support, Justice and Crime Prevention, Health, Education, Early Years and Childcare, Business Support

LSCB Harmful Practices - Forced Marriage and so called "Honour" based violence awareness

Introduction

The course will provide specialist training to enable participants to identify harmful practice cases and support them to provide intensive case work to women and girls who have been and/or are at risk of harmful practices. The training session will create awareness and understanding of harmful practices to professionals to enable them to identify and respond effectively to these practices within the Violence against Women and Girls (VAWG) framework.

Professionals, whose day to day work is likely to put them in contact with women and girls at risk of harmful practices, particularly Forced Marriage and Honour Related Violence will feel more competent to respond to those experiencing abuse from harmful practices equipping them with knowledge and skills to consider women and girls fundamental human rights before other concerns i.e. cultural relativity.

This awareness course is suitable for any practitioner working with children, young people or their families. It is appropriate for workers at all levels, from managers to volunteers.

Learning Outcomes

By the end of the training participants will have:

- Identified the risk factors that can render women and girls vulnerable to harmful practices
- Defined different harmful practices within the wider context of VAWG
- Gained knowledge of local referral pathways
- Knowledge of the role of the various specialist agencies that exist to support women

Signs of Safety - 2x Day Foundation

Introduction

Achieving for Children is implementing Signs of Safety from 19 June 2017. The Signs of Safety model promotes strong relationship building and enables practitioners across different disciplines to work in partnership with children and families to maintain a focus on building safety within the family.

The heart of the Signs of Safety process is an assessment and case planning format that is meaningful for professionals as well as the parents, children and young people being assessed. The Signs of Safety format offers a simple yet rigorous assessment format that the practitioner can use to elicit, in common language, the professional s and family members views regarding concerns or dangers, existing strengths, safety and envisioned safety and wellbeing.

This is the standard training module for organisations and practitioners wanting to use the Signs of Safety approach. It is delivered over two days and practitioners are expected to attend both days. It is designed for all practitioners, supervisors and managers working with children where there are concerns about their safety and well-being.

Learning Outcomes

By the end of the session delegates would have covered:

• Describe the principles and elements of the Signs of Safety practice framework
• Use the Signs of Safety approach as an underpinning model for their practice with children and families
• Apply the 3 columns framework, the mapping process, scaling and danger statements to their work with children and families
• Recognise how Signs of Safety underpins the Early Help Plans

Cultural Perspectives on FGM - Why it happens and what we can do to help end it

Introduction

This half day training gives professionals the opportunity to deepen their knowledge around the practice of Female Genital Mutilation (FGM). The course examines the context of the FGM within culture and what makes individuals partake in the practice.

The session will help professionals become familiar with the challenges individuals face in FGM practicing communities. For those working with these families, it will enable professionals to address the conflict between culture and safeguarding children.

The session is lead by Caroline Sakala who first became aware of FGM over twenty years ago when she lived with the Mandinka community in West Africa for a year. With 98 of the women being cut in the village, Caroline saw first hand the complexities of how culture impacted on changing practice.

Many years later her interest in highlighting the issue for professionals in an engaging way lead her to write her first novel, CROCODILE TEETH - a thriller for young adults. Her novel has gained interest from international campaigners and she is a contributor in FEMALE MUTILATION - which is a collection of international voices on FGM, by Hilary Burrage (New Holland, 2016).

Caroline works within AfC managing the Young People's Supported Accommodation Service and is part of the FGM lead professional team.

www.carolinesakala.com

Learning Outcomes

By the end of the session delegates will be able to:
•Define the 4 types of FGM, the short and long term consequences of FGM and the legal context
•Gain an understanding of how culture impacts on an individual
•Analyse the disparity between individual belief and cultural pressures
•Describe the issues around assessing risk where children are potentially needing to be safeguarded
•Explain why FGM continues and how communities are moving towards ending the practice.

Safer Recruitment (Multi-agency)

Introduction

Research, experience and learning from serious case reviews illustrates the importance of strong and effective recruitment and selection procedures that help deter, reject or identify people who might abuse children, or who are otherwise unsuited to working with them. If you recruit staff and/or volunteers into the children and young people's workforce, you should be trained in safer recruitment practices.

Organisations that provide services to children must incorporate these measures into their processes to remain safe, making safeguarding and promoting the welfare of children an integral part of human resources (HR) management in organisations that work with children is an essential part of creating safe environments. The need for this was illustrated by the Soham case and the findings and recommendations contained in Sir Michael Bichard's report into that case (2004).

Please note this is not intended to be a comprehensive workshop on staff recruitment and selection but on how safer recruitment fits within the wider context of safeguarding and promoting the welfare of children.

Learning Outcomes

By the end of the session delegates will be able to:

• Demonstrate an understanding of offender behaviour
• Identify the key features of staff recruitment that help deter or prevent the appointment of unsuitable people
• Consider policies and practice that minimise opportunities for abuse or ensure its prompt reporting
• Help participants begin to review their policies and practice in recruitment with a view to creating a safer culture

Safer Caring - Protecting Children & Minimising The Risk of False Allegations

Introduction

"Child protection is part of safeguarding and promoting welfare. It refers to the activity undertaken to protect children suffering from, or at risk of, significant harm" (Working Together to Safeguard Children, 2018).

Further information on "Working Together to Safeguard Children" is available at: https://www.gov.uk/government/publications/working-together-to-safeguard-children--2

This one-day course is aimed at staff involved in the fostering task; foster carers and supervising social workers. The course addresses the shift in safer caring practice over the past few years and has been influenced by the Fostering Network's 2012 publication "Safer Caring: a new approach". The course looks at developing knowledge and strategies informed by this new approach, thus ensuring safer caring practice is 'risk sensitive rather than risk averse'. The course is also underpinned by the National Minimum Standards for Fostering Services 2011 and The Children Act 1989 Guidance and Regulations Volume 4: Fostering Services.

Learning Outcomes

This course will enable participants to:

• Recognise the reasons why a foster child or young person may make a false allegation.
• Recognise and explain why all allegations always need to be taken seriously.
• Evaluate the 2011 National Minimum Standards for Fostering Services regarding agency procedures on allegations.
• Demonstrate strategies that can be used in order to minimise the risk of an allegation being made.
• Create a detailed and thorough Family Safer Caring Plan.
• Create a risk assessment plan, with their supervising social worker on the specific foster child or young person placed with them.

Signs of Safety - Mock Child Protection Conference

Introduction

The Signs of Safety model is a tool intended to help practitioners with risk assessment and safety planning in child protection cases. Created by Andrew Turnell and Steve Edwards in Western Australia during the 1990s, Signs of Safety is now used in at least 12 different countries across Australasia, North America and Europe.

AfC will be implementing Signs of Safety across the entire workforce and through the child's journey from the Single Point of Access through to adoption. The way in which Child Protection Conferences are conducted will change to embrace the ethos of Signs of Safety. These Mock Conferences will be provide you with a great insight into how the change conferences will look in the future.

This workshop is for all social workers and colleagues from Education, Police, Health and the voluntary sector who regularly attend and contribute to Child Protection Conferences. All delegates must have attended the two day Signs of Safety Foundation Course or the Briefing prior to attending this workshop.

Learning Outcomes

The workshop is relevant to all social workers and partners who regularly attend Child Protection Conferences and will provide the opportunity for everyone to practice the approach before attending a live Child Protection Conference with parents/carers and children and young people.

By the end of the workshop delegates will:

- Demonstrate application of the signs of safety model at child protection conferences.
- Develop use of simple language.
- Support in a consistent professional language and reporting across agencies.

Safeguarding Children: A Shared Responsibility Level 2 (Schools)

Introduction

The safeguarding of children is the responsibility of everyone who works with children and young people. This safeguarding session is a single agency session and is only available to those working in schools. Bookings received from organisations that are not a school will be cancelled. If your organisation would like an in-service session delivered in your own setting on level 1 or 2 safeguarding please contact training@achievingforchildren.org.uk

All other sectors please visit http://kingstonandrichmondlscb.org.uk/training.php to book your centrally based safeguarding training

Everyone who works with children has a responsibility for keeping them safe. No single practitioner can have a full picture of a child's needs and circumstances and, if children and families are to receive the right help at the right time, everyone who comes into contact with them has a role to play in identifying concerns, sharing information and taking prompt action (Working Together to Safeguard Children,2018)

This course will provide organisations with an in house understanding of safeguarding and child protection procedures that are essential for all practitioners working with children and young people.

Learning Outcomes

On completion of this course delegates will be able to:

- Describe what children and young people want and need to feel safe.
- Demonstrate how values and attitudes can affect our responses.
- Identify how to report safeguarding concerns and the importance of information sharing.
- Identify laws and national guidance relating to safeguarding children.
- Define the criteria for levels of intervention and the role of the Early Help Assessment.

Toxic Trio: Impact upon Outcomes for Children (Windsor and Maidenhead)

Introduction

The term 'Toxic Trio' has been used to describe how the issues of domestic abuse, mental ill-health and substance misuse can negatively impact upon optimal developmental outcomes.

Research studies have shown that the environment in which a child lives is crucial to their health, safety and well-being. A recognition by Ofsted (2010) and many researchers (including Brandon et al 2010, Cleaver et al 2007, 2011 and Stanley et al 2010, 2011) that, whilst parents with single issues such as mental health problems can be effective parents presenting minimal risk of significant harm to their children, the 'toxic trio' of domestic violence, parental substance misuse and parental mental health issues interact with each other 'to toxic effect' to create increased risks of significant harm to children (Hampshire County Council, 2015).

This session will discuss the term and the implication for families, children and young people locally and the significant role that practitioners play.

Learning Outcomes

By the end of today you will be able to:

• Analyse the cumulative effect of domestic violence, parental mental ill-health and substance misuse
• Identify risk and protective factors for children living with parents/adult carer where capacity is compromised
• Use a range of multi-disciplinary assessment tools and interventions

Audience	Youth, Sports and Culture, Social, Family and Voluntary Support, Justice and Crime Prevention, Health, Education, Early Years and Childcare, Business Support

LSCB Safeguarding Children: Child Protection Process Level 3

Introduction

This training session will provide delegates with more information about the processes involved with child protection procedures, including statutory assessment. Under the Children Act 1989, local authorities are required to provide services for children in need for the purposes of safeguarding and promoting their welfare. Local authorities undertake assessments of the needs of individual children to determine which services to provide and what action to take.

This course is multi-agency and designed for members of the workforce who work predominantly with children, young people and/ or their parents/carers and who potentially contribute to assessing, planning, intervening and reviewing the needs of a child and parenting capacity where there are safeguarding concerns. It is recommended that designated safeguarding leads within all organisations attend this course. It is the responsibility of the designated safeguarding leads (DSL) to coordinate the response to safeguarding concerns within their organisation, and to support others in doing so, therefore this course will ensure DSLs are well equipped to meet their statutory responsibilities.

NB: Participants must have completed LSCB Safeguarding Children: A Shared Responsibility (Level 2) course prior to undertaking this course.

Learning Outcomes

This course will enable participants to:

• Demonstrate professional knowledge and understanding of what constitutes significant harm and how to identify and signs of child abuse
• Define local child protection reporting procedures
• Explain the factors that might affect recognition of harm particularly when working with resistance or disguised compliance
• Give example of how to work together to facilitate effective information sharing in order to analyse and understand potential risk of harm
• Identify the importance of professional challenge within a safe system and how to work with professional differences

LSCB Safeguarding Children: A Shared Responsibility Level 2

Introduction

No matter where you work you are likely to encounter children during the course of your normal working activities. You are in a unique position to be able to observe signs of abuse or neglect, or changes in behaviour which may indicate a child may be being abused or neglected.

All those working with children and young people should make sure that they are alert to the signs of abuse and neglect, that they question the behaviours, not taking everything they are told at face value. This course is for staff and volunteers in regular contact or who have a period of intense but irregular contact with children and young people and/or parents/carers including all health clinical staff, who may be in a position to identify concerns about maltreatment.

At the end of the course delegates will have a greater understanding of safeguarding and the processes involved and be more aware how these fit in relation to their role in their organisation.

Learning Outcomes

This course will enable participants to:

• Identify laws and guidance relating to safeguarding children
• Understand what children and young people want and need to feel safe
• Identify some of the main forms, signs and effects of abuse with reference to child developmental stages
• Be able to demonstrate their skills in effective collaboration between interagency to achieve a suitable outcome for the child and family members
• Clear understanding of own and colleagues roles, responsibilities and professional boundaries

LSCB Neglect Toolkit

Introduction

It is agreed amongst practitioners and academics that the cumulative nature of neglect can have a disastrous impact on all aspects of children's health and development. Neglect causes great stress to children leading to poor health, educational and social outcomes and is potentially fatal. Kingston & Richmond LSCB believes that all children and young people in our boroughs should have professionals who are able to swiftly identify and respond effectively to child neglect.

The Neglect Toolkit has been developed to is to help practitioners with parents and carers look at and think about the quality of care given to children, and whether the care meets the children's needs. It will help them to think about concerns as well as identify strengths and where care giving is good.

Learning Outcomes

By the end of the session delegates will be able to:

• Explore and become familiar with the Neglect Toolkit
• Analyse and understand how to use the Neglect Toolkit with families
• Clarify how to use the Neglect Toolkit to evidence neglect and as part of supervision when discussing concerns

Workshop to Raise Awareness of PREVENT

Introduction

The Prevent strategy, published by the Government in 2011, is part of our overall counter-terrorism strategy. The aim of the Prevent strategy is to reduce the threat to the UK from terrorism by stopping people becoming terrorists or supporting terrorism' (Department of Education, 2015). To comply with the duty all schools should be able to demonstrate an awareness and understanding of the risk of radicalisation in their schools. The risk will vary greatly and most likely will be low locally, however this may and can change rapidly; no school is risk free. Therefore, this training will be appropriate for all those that have a safeguarding role within their organisation.

Learning Outcomes

By the end of the session school staff will:

- Increase understanding, knowledge, awareness and purpose of Prevent
- Increase understanding of the process of radicalisation
- Increase confidence in recognising when someone may be vulnerable to radicalisation
- Explain how to raise concerns
- Increase understanding of risk assessment, policy and procedure and the Channel Process
- Describe a proportionate response

Signs of Safety Briefing

Introduction

Achieving for Children is implementing Signs of Safety from 19th June 2017. The Signs of Safety model promotes strong relationship building and enables practitioners across different disciplines to work in partnership with children and families to maintain a focus on building safety within the family.

These briefings are an introduction to Signs of Safety and will give staff and partners an opportunity to hear about Achieving for Children's intended implementation plan, as we set off on our journey to roll out Signs of Safety over the next couple of years. The briefing sessions will be led by internal Achieving for Children staff.

Learning Outcomes

By the end of the briefing delegates will:

- Have a clear overview of what Signs of Safety is
- Understand Achieving for Children's implementation plan to rolling out Signs of Safety
- Understand how Signs of Safety can be used as a standard model for communication
- Be informed of the training opportunity for your organisation in Signs of Safety

MARAC (Multi Agency Risk Assessment Conference) and DASH (Domestic Abuse, Stalking, Harassment and Honour Based Abuse) (Windsor and Maidenhead)

Introduction

MARAC and DASH is an interactive full day's multi agency training course.

This training course will equip front line practitioners, managers and specialist staff to recognise and respond to adults at risk of domestic abuse, stalking, harassment and honour based abuse.

It will give an understanding of risk factors associated with domestic abuse, risk identification, assessment and management, including the MARAC process.

1 in 4 women and 1 in 6 men will be affected by domestic abuse in their lifetime. (Office for National Statistics, 2016)

In 2017/18 there were 2,429 incidents of domestic abuse reported to Thames Valley Police in RBWM.

Experiencing abusive behaviour is never acceptable, whoever it is coming from. Abusive relationships can happen in any circumstances, any age range or any ethnic or economic background. This course is designed to ensure delegates have knowledge of local resources to help victims of domestic abuse.

Pre course requirements: delegates should have a sound understanding of domestic abuse issues, prior to understanding this course. Introduction to Domestic Abuse and/or other Safeguarding training are suitable options.

Learning Outcomes

By the end of the session delegates will be able to:

- Understand risk assessment in domestic abuse.
- Explore agency responsibility in relation to risk identification, assessment and management.
- Complete a DASH risk identification checklist
- Refer into the MARAC and understand the process and the importance of engaging effectively
- Demonstrate an understanding of the importance of effective safety planning alongside risk assessment.
- Feel more confident to work with victims of domestic abuse in a safety focused way.
- Be aware of the role of the Independent Domestic Violence Advocate.
- Gain knowledge of local and national relevant support services.
- Analyse the impact on delegates own work situation.

LSCB Safeguarding Children: Child Protection Process Level 3

Introduction

This training session will provide delegates with more information about the processes involved with child protection procedures, including statutory assessment. Under the Children Act 1989, local authorities are required to provide services for children in need for the purposes of safeguarding and promoting their welfare. Local authorities undertake assessments of the needs of individual children to determine which services to provide and what action to take.

This course is multi-agency and designed for members of the workforce who work predominantly with children, young people and/ or their parents/carers and who potentially contribute to assessing, planning, intervening and reviewing the needs of a child and parenting capacity where there are safeguarding concerns. It is recommended that designated safeguarding leads within all organisations attend this course. It is the responsibility of the designated safeguarding leads (DSL) to coordinate the response to safeguarding concerns within their organisation, and to support others in doing so, therefore this course will ensure DSLs are well equipped to meet their statutory responsibilities.

NB: Participants must have completed LSCB Safeguarding Children: A Shared Responsibility (Level 2) course prior to undertaking this course.

Learning Outcomes

This course will enable participants to:

• Demonstrate professional knowledge and understanding of what constitutes significant harm and how to identify and signs of child abuse
• Define local child protection reporting procedures
• Explain the factors that might affect recognition of harm particularly when working with resistance or disguised compliance
• Give example of how to work together to facilitate effective information sharing in order to analyse and understand potential risk of harm
• Identify the importance of professional challenge within a safe system and how to work with professional differences

LSCB Neglect Toolkit

Introduction

It is agreed amongst practitioners and academics that the cumulative nature of neglect can have a disastrous impact on all aspects of children's health and development. Neglect causes great stress to children leading to poor health, educational and social outcomes and is potentially fatal. Kingston & Richmond LSCB believes that all children and young people in our boroughs should have professionals who are able to swiftly identify and respond effectively to child neglect.

The Neglect Toolkit has been developed to is to help practitioners with parents and carers look at and think about the quality of care given to children, and whether the care meets the children's needs. It will help them to think about concerns as well as identify strengths and where care giving is good.

Learning Outcomes

By the end of the session delegates will be able to:

• Explore and become familiar with the Neglect Toolkit
• Analyse and understand how to use the Neglect Toolkit with families
• Clarify how to use the Neglect Toolkit to evidence neglect and as part of supervision when discussing concerns

LSCB Safeguarding Children: A Shared Responsibility Level 2

Introduction

No matter where you work you are likely to encounter children during the course of your normal working activities. You are in a unique position to be able to observe signs of abuse or neglect, or changes in behaviour which may indicate a child may be being abused or neglected.

All those working with children and young people should make sure that they are alert to the signs of abuse and neglect, that they question the behaviours, not taking everything they are told at face value. This course is for staff and volunteers in regular contact or who have a period of intense but irregular contact with children and young people and/or parents/carers including all health clinical staff, who may be in a position to identify concerns about maltreatment.

At the end of the course delegates will have a greater understanding of safeguarding and the processes involved and be more aware how these fit in relation to their role in their organisation.

Learning Outcomes

This course will enable participants to:

• Identify laws and guidance relating to safeguarding children
• Understand what children and young people want and need to feel safe
• Identify some of the main forms, signs and effects of abuse with reference to child developmental stages
• Be able to demonstrate their skills in effective collaboration between interagency to achieve a suitable outcome for the child and family members
• Clear understanding of own and colleagues roles, responsibilities and professional boundaries

Signs of Safety Briefing (Windsor and Maidenhead)

Introduction

Achieving for Children is implementing Signs of Safety from 19th June 2017. The Signs of Safety model promotes strong relationship building and enables practitioners across different disciplines to work in partnership with children and families to maintain a focus on building safety within the family.

These briefings are an introduction to Signs of Safety and will give staff and partners an opportunity to hear about Achieving for Children's intended implementation plan, as we set off on our journey to roll out Signs of Safety over the next couple of years. The briefing sessions will be led by internal Achieving for Children staff.

Learning Outcomes

By the end of the briefing delegates will:

- Have a clear overview of what Signs of Safety is
- Understand Achieving for Children's implementation plan to rolling out Signs of Safety
- Understand how Signs of Safety can be used as a standard model for communication
- Be informed of the training opportunity for your organisation in Signs of Safety

Signs of Safety - 2x Day Foundation (Windsor and Maidenhead)

Introduction

Achieving for Children is implementing Signs of Safety from 19 June 2017. The Signs of Safety model promotes strong relationship building and enables practitioners across different disciplines to work in partnership with children and families to maintain a focus on building safety within the family.

The heart of the Signs of Safety process is an assessment and case planning format that is meaningful for professionals as well as the parents, children and young people being assessed. The Signs of Safety format offers a simple yet rigorous assessment format that the practitioner can use to elicit, in common language, the professional s and family members views regarding concerns or dangers, existing strengths, safety and envisioned safety and wellbeing.

This is the standard training module for organisations and practitioners wanting to use the Signs of Safety approach. It is delivered over two days and practitioners are expected to attend both days. It is designed for all practitioners, supervisors and managers working with children where there are concerns about their safety and well-being.

Learning Outcomes

By the end of the session delegates would have covered:

• Describe the principles and elements of the Signs of Safety practice framework
• Use the Signs of Safety approach as an underpinning model for their practice with children and families
• Apply the 3 columns framework, the mapping process, scaling and danger statements to their work with children and families
• Recognise how Signs of Safety underpins the Early Help Plans
